

She Has To Do It All!

On July 22, 2011, right after I put the Revelation 6 White Horse information on the site, the Lord showed me there are people who are only partially coming into covenant, that they need to come all the way! On May 25, 2011, the Holy Spirit gave me a scene where I was looking at the dark-haired woman who was supposed to become the Lord's Bride. I was told, "She has to do it all!"

It is important for a person, especially the head of a family, to be in covenant, in total obedience to God. Noah's family was saved because of what Noah did! We can see clearly that Job's children were being protected because of what Job was doing, even though they were not living right. (Job's children didn't know they were being protected!) It's a picture of why God said, "What you do is directly related to what happens to your children!" God told us He would demonstrate everything He has taught us, so the following is a testimony of God doing just that.

When God was teaching me about being in covenant, He gave me a scene where I was going to have a part in saving my firstborn from death because I was standing on solid ground, symbolically - being "in covenant." In other words, my firstborn would be saved because I was walking in covenant!

In the scene my firstborn was in a very small one-seat boat way out in the ocean. The boat was going down. I was standing on the shore in a very strong stance and I could feel something strange about my stance and feet, as if to be immovable. I know this now to be that I was standing on the frame work of the earth where God said, "If you will walk on the frame work you will not fall" - covenant information again. (See Mount Zion articles for understanding.)

Years ago I walked into my living room and had travail come upon me so severe that I went to the floor. (See Extremes of Spiritual Warfare article to understand how God uses travail to change things.) I knew it must be important and that God was doing something, but I didn't know it had to do with my firstborn. Satan had planned to take her life. She worked at a car dealership and I the later found out that she was involved in a train wreck.

When I went to speak to her she told me that after work she was invited to go for a ride in a small Jeep with fellow workers. She wound up riding next to the back window and it was normally the most dangerous place to be as far as getting out of the Jeep. The driver of the Jeep had a hobby of driving on railroad tracks with Jeeps. He took off down the tracks in fun to suddenly see an oncoming train emerging around the curve. (They run about 60 miles an hour there.) After placing the Jeep in reverse, it fell down into the ties and became stuck. The train was approaching and my daughter remembered there was a hidden zipper in the back of the Jeep that held the back window in the canvas top. She unzipped it and exited out the back of the Jeep to safety! She told me that if she had not had the urge to go help a fellow worker wash that particular Jeep the day before and found the hidden zipper, she would be dead. Others perished. I asked her when it was that she had the sudden urge to help wash the Jeep? It was during the time of the severe travail I had experienced the day before.

Wow, Satan had intended to take my firstborn, but God had intervened. He made me a part of it so I would know why. By my experience with travail things changed, and the zipper was revealed to my daughter. I knew the original scene of me being used to save my daughter from death was fulfilled. In the scene it had to do with that strong, strange stance representing my standing in covenant that God had moved on my behalf. Had I not been in covenant my daughter would not be here and I would not have the two grandchildren given to me since then through her.

I thank the Lord for putting this together through the years so all of us could understand more about the benefits of being in covenant. It goes back to what God said, "If you will take care of My business I will take care of yours!" You see, if you are in total covenant, you will be taking care of your part of God's business that is foundational. (God knew the enemy's plans for my firstborn, I didn't!)

That is just one picture of why I have endeavored to stay in covenant with God since He taught me how to do it. I know that just as curses come down through generations, the blessings do too. If we have holes in our covenant relationship with God, they are places through which the enemy can attack us.

It's up to us, and God has shown the way by revealing the three main spots on the Body of Christ. I have known for some time that me being in covenant affects my children in a good way. (God has demonstrated this.) When we look at the big picture, it was more important for me to be in covenant than anything else I could have done for my family! This goes along with why God told us, "What you do is directly related to what happens to your children!"

Are you/we totally in covenant or just part way, perhaps not at all?
